

Helen Bostwick

The Brunswick Times; 8 October 1896; pg. ?, col. 2

MRS. BOSTWICK DEAD; News That Will Strike a Chord of Sadness in Many Hearts

Mrs. Helen C. Bostwick died this morning at 9:45 o'clock, at the residence of her son-in-law, Capt. J.W. Wood, on Union street.

A woman of many perfect gifts, of charming personality, whose life is crowned with doing of good deeds. Mrs. Bostwick's death will be sad news indeed to many who knew and admired her. Coming to the city from her northern home, she lived here many years, lending her efforts to every movement for the betterment of humanity. Of late years, Mrs. Bostwick lived in New York, but returned to Brunswick not many months ago for the benefit of her health. A sufferer from paralysis, she gradually grew worse, and, this morning, surrounded by relatives and friends, passed from life into eternity.

Mrs. Bostwick was the widow of the late John R. Bostwick, who, during his life in Brunswick, filled many important positions. Three children survive her, Mrs. John R. Wood, Miss Maud Bostwick, and Mr. Ollie Bostwick.

Under the nom de plume, "Yellow Jesamine," Mrs. Bostwick was a contributor to many periodicals and did some excellent literary work.

The funeral will occur tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock from St. Mark's Episcopal Church.

Published: 10/08/1896