M.W. MOCK DIED SUNDAY-Old Resident of Brunswick Passed Away After Long Illness.

W.M. Mock [sic], who has been quite ill at his home on F street for several weeks passed away Sunday morning at 8 o'clock and was buried yesterday the services being conducted from the Catholic church.

The deceased has been residing in Brunswick for a number of years and he had a large circle of friends who will regret to hear of his death. He has been in bad health for some time and his death has been momentarily expected for the past several days. Besides his many friends he leaves several children to mourn his loss. Mr. Mock followed the carpenter trade and was a prominent member of the carpenter's union.
